A line defined by one of Webster's thirty-six definitions is "that which has length, without breadth or thickness." It is the distance between two points. In mathematics it can be parallel or perpendicular. It can form a right angle. A line is continous. It flows.

A definition of life by Webster is "the time from birth or beginning of existence to death or the period from any point in such existence of death." It is the distance between two points. It is a continuous pattern which flows.

Buck Overbey

A line consists of many points. The number of points determines the length, although it could continue on forever. Following the direction of the points indicates the shape of the line. Each new point added to the line lengthens it.

Life is a process of many experiences and adventures. It is a series of points connected together. One year of a life can contain many memorable points. With every new event the life is lengthened and shaped.

Hazel Frostick Carries On

It has been said by many journalists who work with yearbooks today that it has become old-fashioned to include dedications. But the 1977-1978 Totem Pole Yearbook Staff feels it is necessary to recognize a very special person on Campus. She is not the most familar figure around Campus, but all one has to do is walk into the Main Office to see her kind smile. No matter how busy the office is, she has time to show concern and care. She is always interested and willing to give a helping hand to improve the school. Coming to Henrico High in 1973, she has the awesome job of keeping the big boss, Dr. Steele straight. So in keeping with the tradition, the Totem Pole Yearbook Staff dedicates the 1977-1978 edition to Mrs. Hazel Frostick.

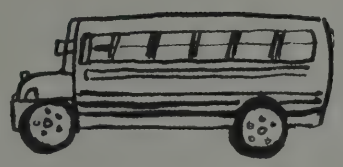
the Tradition

Photographs/Buck Overbey



What makes up a student? Well there are books, papers, lost homework, and borrowed pens. There are after school practices, 8:15 meetings, and Friday night dates. There are complaints, mistakes, and excuses. Students have many problems and disappointments, but the rewards make it worthwhile.

We're Mighty & Great

Four years of hard work and determination has brought the class of '78 to its final year at Henrico. Recognition at the Senior Convocation marked the beginning of many exciting activities and the continuity of traditions. With the help of President Brett Leake and fourth year sponsor Mrs. Jeanette Flippen the class presented the traditional Homecoming Dance in which they honored their selected Court. Besides the usually money-making projects of car washes and bake sales, the Senior Class was put in charge of the delivery of underclassmen's pictures, and they also rented out tuxedos for Prom. But the year was not all work. The seniors accepted the challenge from the juniors in a game of donkey basketball. They also participated in Stunt Night. As the year continued on, seniors began to make final decisions on who would be chosen for the Senior Superlatives. Serious plans were made for Baccalaureate and Graduation along with arrangements for the Beach. At the closing of the year, seniors remember the experiences, adventures, and mistakes of the past four years, but at the same time they look forward to bright futures.

JUNIORS

The Junior Class, led by Darryle Hall, planned a busy year. There was real work to be done and class members began to work together and forgot about cliques.

There was a lot happening and many decisions to be made, so feuds and grudges were set aside to make the year a success. Once again the old fashioned candy was sold. Then the class rings arrived . . . Finally!!! Juniors were running to anyone and everyone around campus to achieve their 79th turn.

The most important project for the Juniors this year was striving to make plans for the best Junior-Senior Prom ever . . . one that will be remembered for many years to come.

All in all, the Class of '79 is growing closer together and learning to love and respect each other and Henrico High School.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomores really came a long way this year. With the leadership of their officers the sophomores accomplished much. Because of all their hard work they were definitely noticed on campus. They had the best Homecoming float of 1977, were involved in intramural sports, and won the spirit contest.

Everyone knows the way to achieve a fantastic prom is by having money making projects. Sophomores proved they were up to the job and willingly began to work.

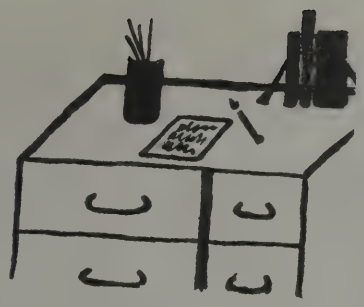
Freshmen show school spirit by proving we are number 1!

Jesse Pennell

Beth Kies



Tumbling out of bed; arriving at school; jumbling together papers . . . What could preparers of food, distributers of discipline, waxers of floors, instructors of classes, and shelvers of books possibly have in common? All of these people see to the efficient running of a huge machine called Henrico High School.

THE BIG FOUR

Buck Overbey

How do teachers feel about their jobs today? Have they changed? Are they changing? And what about students today? Have they changed? Are they changing? What about specific problems of teaching such as discipline? How do teachers cope? What praises/criticisms do teachers have for Henrico High School?

In a survey distributed to all of the teachers at Henrico, an attempt was made to discover how teachers feel about some of these issues concerning education today.

A wide variety of answers was received, and on the following pages a fair representation of the teachers' responses is given. (All surveys were answered anonymously).

Behind the scene workers stay busy throughout each day. They help students and faculty with different problems along the way. Whenever we need them they're always there, to satisfy our needs and to show they care.

I. Changing trends in education —

— There is a trend towards learning what is practical and what is needed to survive as opposed to the older idea of learning for knowledge's sake.

— Changing towards the audio-visual, if it appeals to the eye, it is somehow a better aid to learning.

— They occur.

— Trends change too quickly, without the proper thought and experimentation. By the time one new method is beginning to work, it's changed for something new, thus resulting in confusion and lack of learning.

— Education must always change, to meet the needs of society, and to improve education.

— "Back to the basics" movement and re-emphasis of 3 R's is great.

— Work load of teachers is increasing both by class size and paper work. This does not indicate improvement in student learning!

— Social development needs much less emphasis. Academic achievement is the purpose of the school.

— Too often we change for the sake of changing. Many good "old-time" trends or methods are abandoned.

II. Students today —

— I think they are fantastic, but little is done to show the positive side of students.

— Mentally and emotionally they are the same as usual. Outwardly, they try to grow up and act cool too soon.

— They are smarter as a whole, but lazier than 10 years ago. The motivated today are much sharper, but the percentage of motivated students is smaller than ever!

— Students are more open and will express their feelings freely today. On the negative side, however, they are not very concerned about education. They take it very lightly.

— Most of them are great!

— They show a lack of self-discipline. They have been allowed too much freedom of choice in matters they are not mature enough to deal with.

GUIDANCE - HISTORY

— On the most part, they are harder working and more willing to learn than any other time in history. Not "on the most part." Those that aren't in this category are likewise lazier, with worse attitudes, more belligerent etc., than ever before.

— I wish they were more involved in learning rather than just getting the grade.

— More "worldly" minded.

III. Discipline today —

— The problem is not 100% at school. A great deal is at home where often parents are weak.

— Perhaps encumbered by laws and subsequent litigation. On the other hand, student rights must be protected, but student responsibility must also be emphasized.

— Permissive society has eroded discipline.

Henrico's is effective.

— Sad news — even when teachers try, they receive too little support.

— It is totally necessary for good academics.

— In many cases the student is not mature enough to be as responsible as modern educators feel they should be.

— More difficult. Students have less respect for authority. They will not accept responsibility for their behavior.

— There must be consistency in punishment and in letting students know what is expected.

IV. Good/Bad aspects of eaching at Henrico High — — Great kids, great facilities, good rapport on the part of most teachers, great sports program, good sense of "winning" attitude promoted by coaches.

— Some teachers should not be teaching because their attitudes are too negative.

— Lack of participation in school organizations and functions by some students and therefore a lack of real respect for the school.

— Good outnumbers the bad. With campus style schools closeness is not as it should be among all the occupants and discipline must improve. The kids, I firmly believe, want discipline and respect one who tries it more than one who lets them do as they wish.

— Because of electives teachers get a choice in what they want to teach. This allows them to specialize.

DRIBBLERS

Jesse Pernell

The Varsity Girl Dribblers compiled a fantastic record this season. An impressive win, the Tip-off Tournament, started the team rolling to success. Tough opponents, Patrick Henry and Highland Springs definitely felt the force of the "Green Machine". Coach Joan Darden and the quad-captains, Laura Gregory, Kathy Rowlett, Tammy Trotman and Benita Turner sparked the team to numerous victories despite several injuries to players. The district win over Patrick Henry by a narrow margin gave the Varsity Dribblers an automatic regional berth. This valuable win was the thirteenth district title for Coach Darden.

A definite advantage to the team this year was the significant experience to be gained from the extra games put into this year's schedule. Veterans of the 1977 team added much depth and excitement. Much more passing was exhibited this year than in the past, and cooperation created fantastic team unity and spirit.

Led by the enthusiastic instruction of Coach Sallie Baker, the Junior Varsity girl's basketball team used their ability to the fullest extent. Many injuries were experienced by the players this year, but they definitely pulled through and made the best use of every player. As a whole, the team had great potential, which was a lucky asset due to the inexperience of many of the members. Spirited co-captains, Lori Calabrese and Barrie Smithers helped accent the enthusiasm shown by the JV team. Lee-Davis and Patrick Henry were the two toughest teams in the district and were a great challenge to Henrico. Many of Coach Baker's problems were alleviated this year by two trainers, Jackie Bridges and Anita Williams, who helped Miss Baker manage the girls through this trying season.

Finding a hole, Randy Plummer goes for it.

The 1977 Warrior Varsity football team, under the superb guidance of Coach John Brown, started off the season at a fast pace. The squad rated as one of the area's best teams and finished in third place in a strong Colonial District; thus having set the best record Henrico has had in the past four years. A new field at Chappell Stadium and the introduction of the "Hustle Team" added enthusiasm to impressive home wins.

Springing out to a great start with big wins over Meadowbrook and Lee-Davis, the "Warrior Wishbone" was virtually unbeatable. With Junior Tom Bowles directing the attack and experienced Senior halfbacks, Dave Hollis and Randy Plummer leading the way, the offense showed great potential. A strong defense, led by co-captains, Steve Dowdy and Kevin Gibson blocked the opponents' attack. A heartbreaking tie with Thomas Jefferson, played in the mud, dampened spirits, but was followed by a tremendous Homecoming win over George Wythe. After a fantastic pep-rally before the Hermitage game, the Warriors went on to play their best game, defeating the Panthers. The team suffered their only losses to Highland Springs and Douglas Freeman. Rounding off their schedule with seven wins, the Warriors finished a fine season.

Hard work through the hot summer and satisfying practices strengthened the team's unity and spirit throughout the season. After many years of football, the Seniors experienced a winning season in their final year on the Henrico Varsity football team.

SATURDAY SUPERSTARS

The JV football team could easily have a second name, "Saturday Superstars". They are the boys on Varsity that do not play in Friday night games. We cannot label them "leftovers" for they work hard, as someone must win Saturday games. These games provide valuable experience for the future years, with Coach Axselle's help.

FRESH FUTURE FOR FRESHMEN
LET'S GO!

Jesse Pernell

The ninth grade football team came in with a fresh start, but it proved successful as they gained experience. Led by Head Coach "Bo" Ellett, the team united with hard work. The main goal was to develop the players' abilities for next year. Coach Svor and Coach Elam assisted the team. The team's strongest competitors were Freeman and Highland Springs. Overall, the team played well together with such outstanding players as Kevin Sprouse and Kenny Covington.

This year's Varsity Basketball team, coached by Guy Davis, has many outstanding players considering their small size and lack of experience. The team's quickness, passes, and defense compensate for their weaknesses and have proved very beneficial. During the first half of the season the team had a winning streak placing them high in the Times-Dispatch poll. District rivals Hermitage and Highland Springs and regional rivals George Wythe and Thomas Jefferson proved to be the toughest opponents for the Warrior team. Ricky Adams, Eric Claiborne, Richard Sledd, Darrell Jackson, Jerry Frostick and Reggie Johnson are several of the team's outstanding players who gained help and support from Ken Smither, James Smith, Fontaine Lewis and this year's new addition, the Goal team.

HARMON'S HOOPERS

The outstanding JV basketball team, district champions of last season, returned playing in their old but tremendous form. Led by Coach Ron Harmon, the group had a distinctive rhythm and unity that brought them together and formed a remarkable team. Coach Harmon felt the team was balanced, therefore playing was easier and the games went smoother. Many of the team members particiated on the ninth grade team last year. Coach Harmon felt that they had all matured at playing basketball.

VICTORIES FOR VEGA

Buck Overbey

Coach Vega has been coaching the ninth grade basketball team for quite a few years and so far he has produced a good number of terrific basketball players. This year was no exception; he feels that his 1977-78 team will be very successful in the next few years. Coach Vega said the team was a very intelligent group of ball players and they worked extremely hard, consequently producing positive effects. "Bone" Jarrett, Matt Brown and co-captain Duke Brizzolara proved to be outstanding players throughout the season.

The Wrestling Team completed another great season under the guidance of Coach Axselle. High scoring captains Ralph Plummer, David Baldacci, Karl Young, and Kevin Gibson consistently scored big points for the Warriors. Senior Gordon Ladd, Sophomores Ray Young, and Norman Lee and Freshmen Timmy Holmes and Timmy Mathews were a few of the other high scorers on this year's talented team.

Coach Criswell led the J.V. team to a successful season, too. Solid performances from Wayne Smith, Mike Burton, Todd Curry, Chuck Klehr, and Bob Haufler helped the team progress towards filling in the Varsity lineup and continuing another winning tradition here at Henrico.

Throughout the season, the Soccer team has battled the elements of sky and earth.

Under the guidance of veteran Coach Dave Garrett, and Tri-captains Dickie Harris, Frankie Hilldrup and Fred Robinson, the team, despite its offensive inexperience faired well against Henrico's rivals.

After overcoming injuries and illnesses due to the weather conditions, the soccer team gained momentum. Soccer hopes to become a spring sport.

Superb coaching by Coach Garbett and Coach Wagner resulted in a successful season for this year's Indoor Track Team. Strong performances by Perry Wheeler, Chris Horton, Bruce Sherrod, and Buddy Good, helped the team to their winning season. The team's main weakness this year was their lack of experience, but this did not hinder their season. Girls were not new to the team this year, and Susie Nuckols had several outstanding performances. Both coaches are looking forward to next year with many returning team members.

Floor routines and beam exercises were their strong points, but they also did well on the bars and on the horse. The team was relatively young-the only seniors were Connie Arnett, Sharon King, and Karen Rich. They practiced in the little gym and in the balcony of the big gym behind the sophomore bleachers. Even through Mrs. Beale left, the team worked successfully under the leadership of Mrs. Durham. Due to problems of snow, the team managed to reschedule meets so that they could proudly flaunt their new leotards.

Henrico students took part in various activities in the 1977-78 school year. A new warrior arrived from Finland and helped the Warriors in their victories. The student body planned for the many dances, and they crowded into the gym and auditorium for assemblies. All students have had a busy year.

Spending a week or even four weeks on a college campus and meeting people from all regions of the state sounds exciting. Just ask any of Henrico's representatives from Girl's State, or Boy's State, or the Governor's School for the Gifted. During the summer of 1977, nine seniors and two juniors attended such activities.

The juniors, Jackie Brewer and Sarah Ogilvie, attended the Governor's School at Randolph-Macon Womans College and Mary Washington College, respectively. Six hundred forty students from all regions of Virginia attended school for four weeks and studied two main courses such as art or history. Visiting artists, guest speakers, movies, and dances were incorporated into the evening program. Field trips to see concerts, plays, and exhibits were planned to expose the participants to varied educational and cultural experiences. The classes were electives which the students chose to augment their existing knowledge or to stimulate their interest in areas where they had never ventured.

The summer of 1977 was the first time that Henrico had four girls to attend Girl's State; there are usually less than four. The girls that the American Auxiliary Legion chose from the teachers' nominees were Cindy Klehr, Kathy Rowlett, Andy Smith, and Martha Stevens. They spent a whole week at Longwood College with 621 girls from all over Virginia. Tim Atkinson, Steve Dowdy, Jon Newman, David Robinson, and Ken Smither attended Boy's State at Lynchburg College for one week.

The lucky people who attended Girl's State and Boy's State divided into twelve different cities immediately after getting off of the bus. City officials were elected and each dorm floor was a city which had to be decorated. Two different parties, Nationalists and Federalists, divided them even further. At the Nationalist and Federalist convention, Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Attorney General were chosen from the six nominees of each city. In each dorm room, the roommates were of different parties. This kept individuals from politicking. The campaigns were held simultaneously and the candidates gave campaign speeches and the voting was done by cities.

Every person had to play a sport, play in the band or sing in the glee club. The participants had to eat, sleep, and play within their own city and try to be a model city. Instead of mingling with everyone, they came in close contact with those in his or her city. Gust speakers with those in his or her city. Guest speakers and a talent show were a part of the rigid schedule.

Governor's School, Boy's State, and Girl's State participants benefit immensely from their summer programs. They experience an event that will give them high recognition.

TIMO

Our foreign exchange student this year is Timo Sukko. He added a lot to our campus. A.F.S., F.H.A., Stage Band, German Club, and Soccer were some of the activities that he was involved in this year. Supporting our school by attending games and dances, Timo quickly became a part of the student body. He was willing to share with us his special talents, and we learned they stretched far beyond his ability to be an interesting and relaxed speaker at club meetings. One of his most suprising talents is that he is able to speak six languages, which include Finnish, Swedish, French, English, German and Spanish.

TECH

Everyday before school and after lunch two groups of students travel away from Henrico to learn an occupation at the Highland Springs Technical Center. The second year students leave in the morning before school, and the firest year students leave in the afternoon.

These students consist mostly of Juniors and Seniors. There are a few Sophomores for three year courses such as cosmotology. There are also many other things the students can take. They take most everything from Nursing to Data Processing to Brick Laying.

Each group spends approximately two and one half hours per day working at Tech. There are three credits given for this work accomplished.

Most students at Henrico do not actually know about the Tech students, but they are working just as hard as the rest of us.

Tequila Sunrise

The Homecoming Dance started at 8:00 P.M. Saturday night. Girls started getting ready at 5:30 P.M. hoping they would look their best. Guys put on a suit and left to pick up their dates. Everyone was hoping the flowers they got for their date would match the dress or suit. When couples got to the dance, they could hear the great tunes by Sinbad. The Senior class did a good job with the decorations on the theme of Tequila Sunrise. The dance was a perfect ending on a great weekend for all the Henrico Warriors.

MIDNIGHT BLUE....

started the second semester off right for the students. Students discovered, as usual, the 13th annual Winter Carnival was a night to remember. When entering the doors of a winter wonderland, exam worries were left behind them. The snow covered trees and glistening icicles helped to set the mood for the evening. Paradox played a good variety of music that kept the students dancing all night. Finally, the waiting was over, the 1978 Winter Carnival King and Queen were announced! Silence swept throughout the gym while Dave Hollis and Sharon King danced the traditional court dance.

"As long as there is a younger generation with new ideas and innovations, there is a hope for the future."

E.R.A. faces Virginia government; Panama Canal splits Congress; Elvis Presley dies; H.E.W. recommends quota system; Crime rate rises; Farmers strike; Hubert Humphery dies; Coal miners strike; Palestinans and Israelis fight; Black majority takes rule in Rhodesia; Cost of living rises; Bing Crosby dies; Unemployment rises; Guy Lombardo dies; Violence in schools increases . . . The list goes on and on. The political, economic, and social aspect of American life seem to have leveled out to a shaky equilibrium. And the future is questionable.

A very important factor concerning the future has been overlooked – the youth of today will be the leaders of tomorrow. As long as there is a younger generation with new ideas and innovations, there is a hope for the future. It is a circle; a generation comes of age and improves the world, but they also make problems for the world. Then posterity takes control. They correct the mistakes of the last generation, and they leave problems for others to solve.

The time of decisions now confronts us; around every corner, there exists a world that must be built, and we are the architects. Our past generations have established foundations on which, we the youth, seek to continue growing and learning, making this country an active part of the world. Our generation will influence government. We will make new discoveries, settle international disputes, control rising costs, and more. We will bring America to its height of power, prestige, and glory.

As we begin our role as active citizens of America, we should not look at the problems, but at their solutions. With God's help, we can lead our country through the bad and towards the better.

Meeting after school, making cookies for the bake sale or bringing rags for a car wash all are part of being a member of one of the many clubs and organizations at Henrico. Although sometimes it seems all you do is pay dues and earn enough points for the month, the end results are always rewarding.

The French Club is lead by president Susan Appich. They go to French plays and restaurants. They also make posters for the foreign language department.

The Spanish Club is headed by president Sheryl Stiebel. This is the first year their has been a Spanish Club at Henrico. The club is for people interested in learning more about Spanish culture. The sponsor is Mrs. Newell.

TAPPED IN

The Honor Society, the Thespian Society, and the Quill and Scroll Society are three of the most honored clubs at Henrico. It is a thrill and an honor to be in these clubs. Each member is "tapped in" during an annual ceremony. It is a mystery as to who will be tapped in until it actually takes place. If you go to one of these ceremonies you might be the next one to get tapped.

DECA and VICA were both very active this year. DECA involved working half-days and going to school half-day. VICA members went to the Highland Spring Technical Center where they learned a useful trade.

Some of the students who helped this year run so smoothly were the laboratory, office, clinic, drivers education, library and home economic assistances.

Girls Are Athletes

The Girls Athletic Association was led by Sandra Bottoms and sponsored by Miss Baker. They had many money-making projects this year, including a chicken dinner. The profits from these projects go toward a scholarship for a girl athlete from Henrico.

They met every Wednesday night and were involved in many recreational activities, including basketball and volleyball.

Thanks to good leadership and a lot of enthusiastic members G.A.A. had a very successful year.

The Drill Team's last year at Henrico was definately an outstanding one. The number of participants was smaller, but this only improved their excellent routines. Led by Senior Debbie Ostein, the Smoke-Signals News-Magazine staff has really gotten their act together this year. Assisted by sponsor Carlton Moore, the group has kept the basic format that has been used over the past few years. Along with trying to use more color and to do more graphic work, The Smoke Signals has been striving for more reader response through a series of surveys published in the paper. The staff has placed first over the past three years in the VHSL leagues's judging of newspaper publications.

The newspaper receives its only income from advertising. With that money, the group buys the necessary paper and ink, and the entire printing process is done here at Henrico.

Fourth period is the designated meeting time of the staff. Although the headquarters is in Room 10, you may find the staff in the nearby darkroom, out gleaning interesting news material, or perhaps even at Hardee's munching on a delectable midday snack.

AND THE BAND GOES MARCHING ON

Henrico's Warrior Marching Band was led this year by drum major Dickie Justice and assistant Ted Dowdy. The devoted marchers came to school each morning at 7:30 regardless of rain, sleet, snow, or stalled cars; fell into formation, inspired by the rousing strains of "Star Wars." The band received first place in the Madison Homecoming Parade, and participated in the annual Toys for Tots competition. WHAT WILL H-TEENS DO NEXT?

Henrico's H-Teens consist of four clubs . . . Triangles one, two, three, and four. Through participation and hard work, these girls strive to better their school and community. With concern for others as they learn, work, and grow together, H-Teens try to fulfill the needs of those around them. Whether it is through projects in school . . . such as donating food for dances, picking up trash, or cleaning blackboards . . ., or projects in church and community, H-Teens always lend a helping hand.

All Around The Board

The Chess Club and their sponsor Mr. Gallier are chess lovers. They spend their time learning the skills of chess, and challenging others to the game. The American Field Service is a club that primarily raises money through various activities. They try to earn enough money to bring a foreign student here and send someone from Henrico to a foreign country. Timo Suokko is Henrico's foreign exchange student this year.

YOU TALK . . . THEY LISTEN

Rex Gibson

Do you have something on your mind? Well, you are in luck because there are eight Peer Counselors on campus to help you discuss your problems. This group began two years ago when the Black Heritage Task Force thought of a way of helping students with their problems. Peer Counselors have helped Freshmen locate their classes on the first days of school and have been seen on WWAR.

Many students applied to be Peer Counselors. Each one was personally screened and had a training period in which he had a role to play. Confidentiality is stressed. You can tell anything to them, but they will tell no one. The returning Peer Counselors were Jackie Brewer, Tracy Bridges, Martha Via, and Mark Vlahos. The new members were Ginny Harwood, Sheila Naumann, Janice Robinson, and Rene Vaughan. Mrs. Stacia was an active and interested sponsor. So, if you need someone to lean on, go to a Peer Counselor. That is their business.

"Okay, people, let's get busy!" "Buck! I need more pictures!" "Who stole my cropper?" Editors conversing and everybody working, the Totem Pole Staff hustled into confusion each day during 4th period. Led by advisors, Mr. Reahard and Mrs. Scott, the Totem Pole Staff got into full swing with only a few complications.

A word from our sponsors. The advertisement section may be one of the least interesting sections of the book but it is the most important to the books productions. Besides providing the funds for publication the ads portray a cross-section of the business community. So don't go away we'll be back in a moment.

With wings of softest fabric, so sheer and lined with silvery thread.
The golden wings, the graceful journey-the flight of the butterfly.

After seasons,
the butterfly prepares for flight to another location; The time has come to leave his stage, as he once left his cocoon and matured, and began his flight.
Gracefully alighting on a perch, the butterfly observes, with attentive acknowledgement and a keen awareness, his surroundings and himself, no more the tiny worm; carefully scanning his new position.

For a time, the flight will pause, and the butterfly will experience new challenges before moving on again to continue his flight.
